Wherever there is mobocracy and disorder, it⁴⁷ is the law⁴⁸ of the jungle that works; it is the fittest⁴⁹ that survive and the weak⁵⁰ are made to suffer. The laws of the land are, consequently, of no effect and flouted with impunity. The events in Obuasi last Wednesday⁵¹ when some artisanal miners operating in an abandoned⁵² pit belonging to AngloGold Ashanti (AGA) went on the rampage and vandalised⁵³ properties are, to say the least⁵⁴, very nauseating⁵⁵. It becomes worse⁵⁶ when the only reason for the miners, numbering⁵⁷ about 500, going on the violent demonstration was that they⁵⁸ were not in favour of an attempt to move them⁵⁹ to another site. What happened to dialogue? If groups of Ghanaians could just take to the streets and visit mayhem⁶⁰ on other people and destroy property⁶¹ just because they are unhappy⁶² about situation, we can imagine the sort⁶³ of society we would have. (Daily Graphic, Friday, October 11, 2016, P. 7).
